THE CONVENTION

The President Makers

SIX BALLOTS TAKEN AND NO RESULT.

Had Exposition Hall been prepared for the use of gas, the Convention, no doubt, would have held a night session, and by this time, perhaps, the country would have known who would be the standard bearer of the Republican party in the coming campaign—as it was not, the different factions left the scene of conflict at 6 o'clock in the afternoon yesterday with the consciousness that work was still to be done in strengthening their respective positions, and that another night of suspense must be passed.

There was a noticeable diminution of noisy demonstration and out-door activity among the delegates, but it was a calmness which preceded the storm. Inside the hotels at the headquarters of the different wings of the party, earnest consultations were had. An air of anxiety prevailed, and the "dread to-morrow" was looked forward to with apprehension.

The friends of Bristow appeared more hopeful than hitherto, and the Hayes faction seem to have been inspired with renewed courage and confidence. For the first time during the week the Blaine men appeared anxious, while the Morton and Conkling adherents were sanguine of the defeat of Blaine. Some changes have been made against that gentleman, principally among the delegates from the South, though why they were made does not seem clear, unless, as they allege, they are convinced that he can not carry the South.

The only meeting of a public nature held last night was that in the interest of Bristow at Pike's Opera-house, under the auspices of the Cincinnati Bristow Club. A large audience attended, among which numerous ladies were seen. The meeting was presided over by Julius Dexter, Esq., and the speakers were Hon. Richard H. Dana, of Massachusetts, and Senator Jas. L. Alcorn, of Mississippi.

The contested seats in the Alabama delegation having been settled in the Convention yesterday by the adoption of the majority report of the Committee on Credentials, that State completed its organization last night as follows: Vice President of Convention, Jas. Q. Smith; member of Committee on Credentials, Samuel F. Rice; on Permanent Organization, R. W. Healey; on Resolutions, Willard Warner; on Rules, Morris D. Wickersham; National Committeeman not yet selected.

On the second ballot when the vote for Pennsylvania was called, the Chairman of that delegation reported that fifty-eight votes were in favor of J. F. Hartranft. A member of the delegation from Westchester arose to a question of privilege and stated that the vote as cast did not represent the correct vote of the State, as the Westchester gentleman and his colleague were in favor of Blaine, and desired that their votes should be so recorded.

Exceptions to this were taken by a Pittsburg delegate, who wanted to be heard on the subject; and, when he had called the attention of the Chairman to the fact, stated, in response to the explanation of the Chairman that he did not hear him, that he did not wish to be heard.

The Chairman, McPherson, in an excited and impressive manner, said that such a statement and imputation did the delegate himself dishonor. A scene of the utmost confusion then ensued. Gen. Richard Thompson, of Indiana, arose and characterized the conduct of McPherson in thus replying to the Pennsylvania as unbecoming, and that the Convention must not be turned into a theater for the settlement of personal differences, but that the business of the Convention should be carried on without this unseemly squabble.

A discussion of this cause—which was a firebrand in a hitherto harmonious gathering—was carried on with heat and passion for over half an hour. Eugene Hale, of Maine, wanted the Pennsylvania delegation to retire and settle the matter among themselves. This was not agreed to. Mr. Oliver, of Pennsylvania, succeeded in gaining the attention of the members, and made a statement, the result of which was, that the Chairman announced that the vote would be recorded fifty-four for Hartranft and the rest for Blaine, and the roll proceeded.
